Cops lay dragnet, tough DUI enforcement

COPS PREPARE DRAGNET — Officers from 11 law enforcement agencies from both Wisconsin and Illinois, along with Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller and Lake County States Atty. Fred Foreman, center, plan all-out DUI dragnet, laid on both Friday, July 23 and Saturday, July 24 in Lake and Kenosha counties. — Photo by Gloria Davis.

Landfill hearings draw huge crowd

The public hearings held at Antioch High School by Lake County on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 20 and 21, concerning the Waste Management, Inc. proposal to put a new landfill in the village, seem to be just the start of many more grueling hearings. Additional sessions have already been scheduled for Tuesday, July 27, and Thursday, July 29.

The first two sessions had speakers talking on the side of Waste Management and Village Attorney Ken Clark objecting not only to what they were saying but to their qualifications to testify in behalf of the landfill.

Over 300 people were in the high school on both evenings and many were picketing against the landfill proposal outside of it preceding the hearings.

On Tuesday, Richard Eldredge of Eldredge Engineering and J. Christopher Lannert, a landscape expert from Geneva, testified on the merits of the landfill.

Lannert talked again on Wednesday, as did two real estate appraisers. Lannert's system of values was questioned by an Antioch resident.

Lane Kendig, director of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality questioned the validity of Robert Schroeder's appraisal. The county had previously questioned his approach saying that the sample he presented was too small, making the possibility of error very strong. Kendig's remarks were greeted by audience applause.

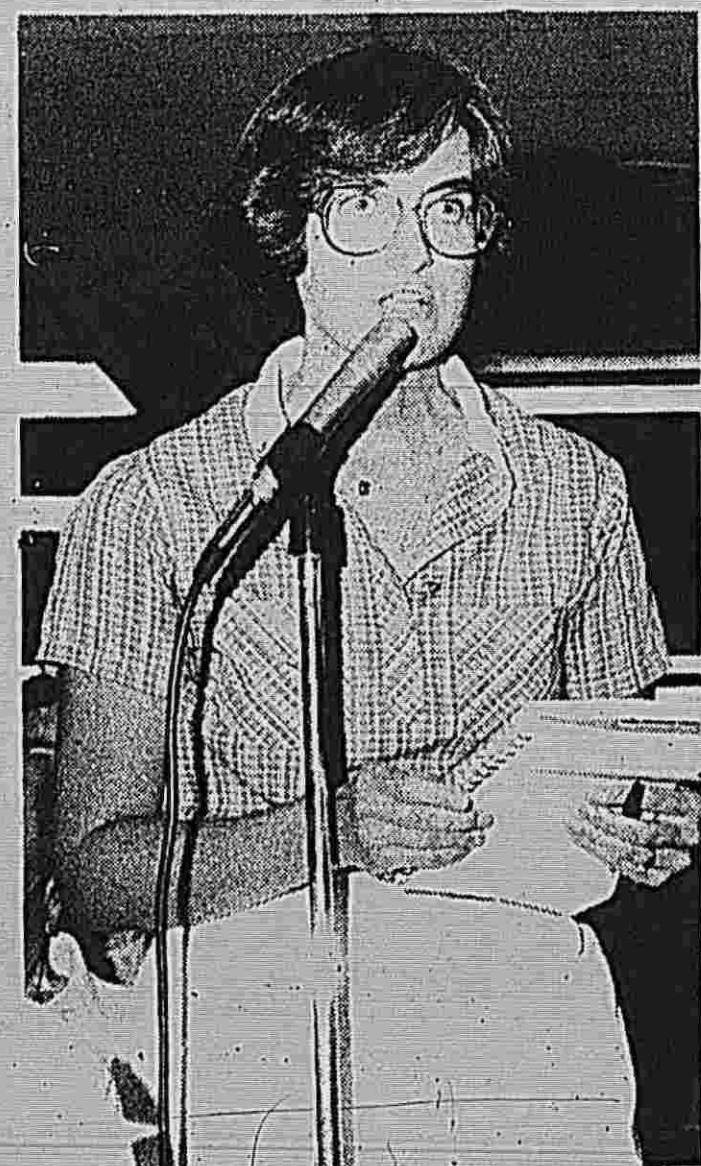

Another applause getter was State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) when she said that she could not believe that the landfill would have no negative impact on the area.

Schroeder's statements that the property values in Little Silver Lake had appreciated faster than those in Oakwood Knolls and that the values of the homes backed-up to the proposed landfill would go up again in three or four months, brought objections and snickers from the audience.

Fred Johnson of the Concerned Citizens Committee, reported that Lannert's testimony was obviously valueless when he said there would be no negative impact and later said that the horizon and sunset would disappear from view for the people on Center Dr.

The question of the need of vegetation seem to vascillate as to the seasons. When questions on the proposed berm hiding the unsightly landfill went into what would hide

Even though a Kenosha radio station leaked the fact that two states' law enforcement agencies were planning to lay a drinking-driving dragnet in Lake and Kenosha Counties on Friday, July 23 and Saturday, July 24, the 11 agencies that were involved still made more than their share of DUI arrests.

Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller said that the warning caused many of the kids to use the side roads to avoid the police.

"Antioch had no open intoxicant arrests. A lot of the kids that we stopped laughed and said, 'not this time we knew we might be stopped'," he added.

Involved on both evenings were over 70 police officers from Lake County, the State of Illinois, Dist. 15, the State of Illinois, Dist. 2, Antioch, Kenosha County, Pleasant Prairie, Winthrop Harbor, Zion, the Wisconsin State Patrol, and Richmond and Twin Lakes.

A total of 57 DUI arrests, 117 open intoxicant arrests, 202 other traffic arrests, 17 criminal charges, and 379 written and verbal warnings were the result of 794 stops.

With almost 1,000 man hours involved in this one weekend, the same law enforcement agencies are warning of similar sprees to come, this time hopefully without warning.

Gannon plea guilty, could get 4 years

by GLORIA DAVIS

A 39 year old Antioch Township man, Patrick Gannon, pled guilty to three counts of taking indecent liberties with a child in the Lake County Court of Judge Robert McQueen, on Friday, July 23.

According to the prosecuting attorney, Asst. States Atty. Mike Fusz, the July 23 hearing was called so that Gannon's attorney, Patrick Salvi, could enter a motion to suppress Gannon's confession and other statements made to the Lake County Sheriff's deputies that arrested him, before his pre-trial set for August 9.

But instead, a negotiated plea of guilty was entered with the states attorney's office agreeing to dismiss one count of taking indecent liberties and one charge of aggravated incest.

Gannon is expected to be sentenced to four years in the Illinois Dept. of Corrections by McQueen on Friday, August 13, at which time the Lake County Probation Dept. will present the results of their pre-sentence investigation.

If Gannon receives the expected four year sentence, it will carry with it a minimum two year probationary period.

Gannon was charged with taking indecent liberties with the pre-teen friends of his daughter when they would visit her in his home. He had been charged with similar offenses in 1978.

Good news in The News

Bargain Days

The Maxwell Street Days sidewalk sale is set for Thursday Friday and Saturday of this week.

This annual event, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, is geared to help consumers finish out their summer wardrobe and needs for tremendously reduced prices.

Since there will be plenty of warm weather ahead it's also the ideal time to buy immediate back-to-school clothes for the kids at a great savings.

The event is expected to help Antioch merchants clear out their stores to make room for incoming fall and winter goods.

Great Outdoors

On Sunday, August 1, one of Antioch's biggest social events of the year will take place.

It's time for the annual Lions' Farmer's Picnic, Chicken-Bar-B-Que and Auction at Williams Park.

As usual there will be games, races and prizes for the kids and delicious charcoal-broiled, butter basted chicken for the entire family.

The auction, sponsored by the Antioch Rescue Squad, will feature a myriad of new, used and antique items.

The new look for the event this year is the pavilion built by the Lion's Club in which the auction will be held.

Muth charges switched to misdemeanors

The felony charges against Marilyn Muth for allegedly bilking several Antioch residents of approximately $2,000 in a toy scam last Christmas, have been changed to misdemeanor charges.

Muth, who pled not guilty at her arraignment last month, has had her case continued to August 20 at which time a status check is set to be made.

She is scheduled to appear in Lake County Court, room 202. Muth was charged with perpetrating a swindle in which she took money from 15 Antioch residents, promising the delivery of toys from a discount catalogue. Delivery was never made.

She is also out on another bond and facing similar charges in Cook County.

Cancer society plans tag days July 29, 30

The Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold its annual tag day in Antioch Friday and Saturday, July 29 and 30.

Mrs. Charles G. Hallett, who will be in charge of the community service project of the Antioch Women's Club with the assistance of Mrs.

Donald Knowlton, will also have the aid of the State Bank of Antioch's Womens Golf League as well as the support of members of many church groups in order to man eight stations during tagging hours set from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. Florence Babusek, State Bank of Antioch, will distribute and receive the tag day cans.

"Only with the support of the community can the Cancer Society continue to function directly and efficiently in the Antioch area, keeping its services available to all in need," according to the co-chairman of the event.

Fechtner receives 2nd top retail agent award

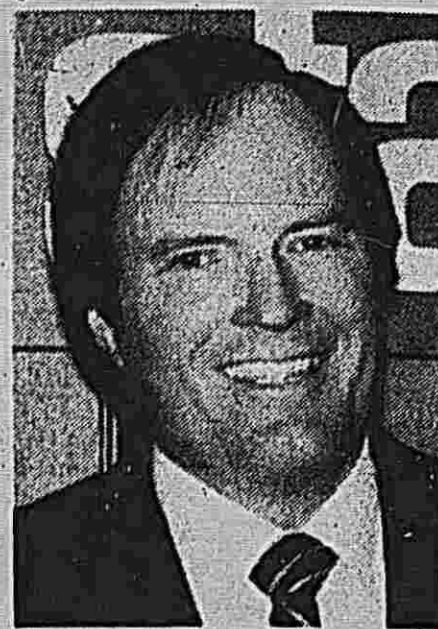

Don Fechtner a 10-year resident of Petite Lake near Antioch was awarded Allstate Insurance Co. Top Retail Agent Award for the second consecutive year.

He was also recognized as the top producer of life insurance for Allstate in Illinois and one of the top five in a nine-state zone. This has aided in his achievement of the life millionaire award for the fourth consecutive year.

Fechtner has been an Allstate agent for almost a decade. He works from two locations — his home in Antioch and at the Vernon Hills Sears store, Hawthorne Shopping Center.

Fechtner, his wife, Judy and son, Marc, traveled to New Orleans in April to accept his top agent award and will travel to the Bahamas in late summer to accept the top life award.

Shamrocks to hold Irish Gaelic Mass

Shamrock Club of Twin Lakes invites everyone to join with club members as they celebrate an Irish Gaelic Mass at St. John's in Twin Lakes on July 27 at 7 p.m.

Father Dermot Nolan from the order of St. Patrick's Fathers will officiate at the Mass. Jim Tully, permanent deacon at St. John's, will assist Father Nolan.

As with the old Latin Mass, the language emanating from the altar will be unknown to most of those in attendance. However, a unique experience awaits everyone as Father Nolan celebrates the Holy Mass in this ancient tongue.

After Mass, a general membership meeting will be held downstairs in the community center. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

Pet shop to open

A new pet shop, Pine Tree III, opened in Antioch, early in July. Owner, Grace Henschel, and manager, Steve Dolloff, have chosen the former location of Bob's Maytag Appliance Store on Main Street.

Grace Henschel and Steve Dolloff are not new to the pet store business. Henschel has owned and operated Pine Tree Pet Shop in McHenry for fifteen years. Steve Dolloff worked at the McHenry store for five years, before opening the Pine Tree Pet Shop in Woodstock in 1974.

Collins, who has been running the ARTGO circuit most of this season, started 32nd in the 40 car field for the Miller 200 at Milwaukee's State Fair Park Speedway run July 18.

The former Waukegan Speedway champion placed 28th in the final standings completing 119 laps of the 200 scheduled before being forced to the pits with a blown engine.

It was the first start for Collins on the mile asphalt track located on the Wisconsin State Fairgrounds.

The Time Machine

When I think about it

Bike riders are becoming monsters of the roads

by GLORIA Davis

Personally, I consider the exertion of opening a car door, bending to sit in the driver's seat and the additional movements of my foot on the gas and brake pedals, plus the arm motions involved in shifting gears, to be the maximum physical effort that I dare ask my feeble body to engage in when it comes to traveling.

And just coping with the rigors of everyday life has my nerves in the same sad shape as the body they are encased in.

So the flood of two-wheeled vehicles that the nice weather has brought to the highways has set "my tith on edge," as Ricky Ricardo used to say to Lucey.

Now I know that cycling has long been considered a good healthy way to commune with nature while getting much needed exercise. But lately, I've had a few experiences with two-wheeled vehicles that could prove injurious to a person's health, namely mine.

I tell you, the sight of a weaving two-wheeler has become "heart attacks-ville" as far as I'm concerned.

Certainly cyclists have as much right to use the roads as motorists do, but the cyclists I've come across don't seem to respect the fact that the roads they are using are traveled by automobiles too and in a vehicle to vehicle confrontation, 3,000 pounds of steel has a slight edge.

The other day, as I was driving on a particularly busy highway, a glance in my rear-view mirror told me that a motorcycle complete with female passenger was riding my back bumper.

As I approached an intersection, the cycle passed me on the right and crossed directly in front of me to get into the left turn-only lane.

The fact that my brakes were in good working order accounted for the avoidance of a horrible accident which most likely would have resulted in the cycle and its occupants being imbedded in the grill of my car.

The cyclist could have just as easily gotten into the turn-lane from his position behind me and there was absolutely no purpose to his dangerous tricky maneuver.

When I left the highway and took to the side roads I thought my nerves would get a rest but no sooner had I done so when I came across four people on bicycles directly ahead of me, two on each side of the road.

They were apparently traveling together since they were tossing conversation back and forth across the road. It was a good thing that the uncertain weaving of their bikes caused me to slow to a crawl because the two bikers that were riding against the traffic decided to join their friends on the other side of the road.

Without checking oncoming traffic, they curved across the road and narrowly missed becoming my new hood ornaments.

It's getting so that I want to park my car and walk around every motor and pedaled cycle I see.

Things seem to have taken a turn-about.

Common bikers! We motorists have the right to use the roads too.

Since bikers are expected to obey the rules of the road as we are, I think the same legal requirements should be made of them.

They should be licensed and have to take a test to get that license, just as we do. Then they should be bound by the traffic rules and held to them by our law enforcement agencies.

Bikers disobeying these rules should be held liable and receive the same penalties as motorists do for traffic violations.

The laws should probably be enforced even more so since bikers' unprotected circumstances put them in a more dangerous position.

Anyway, I'm thinking of getting a bumper sticker that says "A bad biker should become a hiker!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO: July 28, 1932

An Antioch News editorial written by Agnes Bienfang, appeared in the Chicago Tribune.

The federal raids on 16 Lake County resorts, including three in Antioch, were laid to political reasons and not the given one, an attempt to capture George "Bugs" Moran.

An article in the News noted that women were no longer satisfied to remain in the state of "innocuous desuetude."

REUNION

A thirties reunion for alumni and former students at Lewis University will be held noon Sunday, August 29, at the Romeoville campus. Those invited are all former students from the the classes of 1932-1941, when the university was evolving from Holy Name Technical School, to Lewis Holy Name Technical School, and then Lewis Holy Name School of Aeronautics. For more information, contact Jerry Albert, director of development, at (815) 838-0500, extension 244.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Eunice Rathmann tells me that the members of the Antioch American Legion Auxiliary Unit 748 will hold the first meeting of the new auxiliary at 7:30 p.m., on Monday, August 2, at the Legion Hall.

The new president, Betty Davis, who was officially installed at the recent state convention, will chair this meeting.

Eileen O'Hara, the auxiliary's delegate to the Illini Girls State sessions, held last month, will give a report on that event. First Vice-President Iris Schroeder will be accepting dues and is hoping to report a 100 percent membership.

Delegates to the 10th District meetings will also be elected.

Looks like our famous Antioch pedaler, Mark Di Silvestri is at it again. he and Gregg Westerberg from Chicago, raced the yachts to Mackinac Island again last weekend.

If you remember, last year, Mark beat the boats by three hours, taking 51 hours to make the trip.

This year he was hoping to do it again but in just 45 hours. "We hope to ride 27 hours the second day," he said when he called.

I'll let you know the results next week.

Listen everyone, the Lake County Health Dept. is always offering one health program or another and since they are free, more of us should take advantage of it.

Right here in Antioch, at St. Peters Church Hall, there will be free blood pressure screening on Wednesday, August 18.

I hear that John H. Goorski, son of Henry and Sheila Gorski, Antioch, has been promoted to the rank of airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

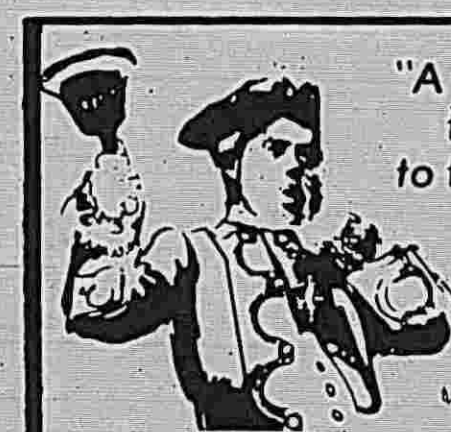

He is a ground equipment mechanic with the 35th Equipment Maintenance Squadron stationed at George Air Force Base in California.

More Antioch scholars have surface out at Northern Illinois University.

Congrats to Catherine Aschbacher, John Hancock, Beth Kromer, Marianne Lindsey and Diane Walsh who all showed up on the honors list for the spring semester.

Doon't forget this is a big weekend coming-up in Antioch. Thursday, Friday and Saturday is our annual fantastic Maxwell St. Days and Sunday is one of the best events of the year, the Lion's farmers Picnic and Chicken Barbeque.

Old Annie Mae is ready to bust her piggy bank to get one of the great items set for sale at the rescue squad's auction!

THE Entertainer

IT'S DRUNK OUT TONIGHT — In drunk scene from PM&L's "Ah Wilderness," Richard, left, played by Tony Stark, is ousted by Dave Carlson, bartender.

On Cue opens comedy, 'Under Papa's Picture'

"Under Papa's Picture", opening at The Country House Restaurant Dinner Theater, is most definitely a comedy with touches of a sexual farce. The story takes place in sunny California at the home of John and Janice Connelly, played by Phil Jaeger of Zion and Donna O'Donnell of Lake Villa.

John's mother, played by Anne Marie Cina of McHenry, comes for an unexpected visit with very important "news" for her son. John panics at the thought of his lifestyle drastically changing. The "happenings" that go on from that point on will tickle your funny bone.

Other actors featured in this production are Don Crop from Mundelein as the infamous "Italian painter", Karen Jones from Round Lake as the young daughter "Kelly", Tom Cody of Libertyville as the "pushy parish priest", and Ricky Apostol from Antioch as the household consultant.

To see what mother's news is, why John panics, and why all sorts of chaos occurs, come to The Country House Dinner Theater in Antioch, Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons beginning July 30 and running weekends throughout the month of August.

'Ah Wilderness' run continues

PM&L Theatre's summer comedy, "Ah, Wilderness!" by Eugene O'Neill, continues its run at the playhouse in Antioch this weekend with 8:30 p.m. performances Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31 and a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Sunday, August 1.

The theatre, located at 877 Main St., is fully air conditioned so that audiences may enjoy this warm hearted family comedy of love and growing-up in cool comfort.

The show, directed by Wilmoit High drama director and Antioch resident Tom Hausman, is a warmly compassionate play, good-natured and unpretentious, that is mellow with the wisdom of acceptance and charming with a sympathetic insight into the foibles of mankind.

It is a treat for the whole family. It is like taking your family to the ice cream parlor on a warm summer's night for some cool, delicious pleasure.

The play will complete its run on Friday and Saturday, August 6 and 7, with an 8:30 p.m. curtain.

Ticket prices are: $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for students.

PAIN TREATMENT CENTERS

Q: I heard recently of centers for treatment of facial pain. Where does the dentist fit in?

A: Chronic pain is one of the most difficult problems in medicine. In chronic pain of the face, the problem is compounded by the large number of possible causes of pain in the area.

Because of the dentist's intimate knowledge of the mouth and jaws he is often a important member of the health team dealing with facial pain patients. The facial pain team may also include surgeons, neurologists, internists, physical therapists, ear, nose, and throat specialists, and psychologists. The different areas of expertise of all these specialists will often allow insights into treatment which might not occur to any one alone.

Pain treatment centers are becoming more common. In the meantime, dentists are often the first to see patients with chronic pain of the face. The knowledgeable dentist will know when to treat and when and where to refer the patient who needs further help.

Need volunteers to teach driving

Additional volunteers are needed in Illinois to become instructors for 55 Alive/mature Driving, the nation's first comprehensive and most beneficial classroom accident prevention refresher course, designed specifically for drivers age 55 and over by the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP).

Men and women, age 55 or older, may qualify to become instructors after participating in the 55 Alive course, which is being introduced to a growing list of communities in Illinois. More instructors are needed so that the benefits of the course may be offered to all senior drivers who may wish to update and improve their driving skills. Training is provided by AARP. This unique course provides participants the opportunity to discuss their own driving problems and are advised on ways and means to cope with them.

The effects of aging and medications on driving, basic driving rules of the road, local driving hazards, accident prevention measures, hazardous driving conditions and many other topics pertaining to the senior driver are discussed in two half-day sessions.

Men and women 55 years and older, who are licensed Illinois drivers, are eligible to participate in the class and may qualify to become a volunteer instructor.

Illinois drivers, who successfully complete the 55 Alive/Mature Driving course, may also qualify for auto liability insurance cost reduction, according to Public Act 82-721, which became effective on July 1.

For further information about classes or becoming an instructor, write, including name, address and telephone number, to Ray Patten, state coordinator of 55 Alive, P.O. Box 542, Oak Lawn, Illinois 60454.

Drunk drivers may get special court priority

A special priority court call for prosecuting drunk driving cases may be established in Lake County in an attempt to "target drunk drivers," said Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman. Speaking at a press conference, Foreman said he has discussed the possibility with Chief Judge Robert McQueen and is "encouraged at this stage by his response."

Foreman said that under the current court set-up, with drunk driving cases interspersed between traffic offenses, they are often merely treated "like speeding cases."

He said that McQueen has taken the proposal under advisement and will determine if it is feasible.

According to Foreman, the proposal to McQueen was made in response to recommendations from a citizens group, "Hands Across The Border," as well as input from his own citizens advisory committee.

Foreman said his July 13 meeting with the citizens group also prompted several letters to public officials and law enforcement agencies, including Wis. Gov. Lee Dreyfus and Gov. James Thompson, calling for a uniform drinking age of 21 in both states.

In addition, Foreman has asked that the next session of the Illinois State's Attorney's Assn. Executive Committee be devoted to strengthening drunk driving legislation and stricter court supervision for drunk driving offenders.

Foreman said he intends to meet with area legislators to discuss the possibility of developing legislation that would impose court costs on drunk driving cases. The court costs ideally would be "sufficient to fund priority prosecution programs" dealing with drunk drivers, said Foreman.

Foreman said a limited plea bargaining policy for drunk driving offenders, already adopted by the state's attorney's office, should also help deter drunk drivers.

Foreman has also requested that media and private industry develop an advertising campaign of public service announcements to deal with the drunk driving issue in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

Water contamination and wild life interruption were questions put to those testifying that many in the audience felt were not answered convincingly.

She urged people to continued to attend the hearings as long as they are in progress.

Little petitions village for property annexation

Al Little, owner of over 80 acres east of the village of Antioch, has petitioned the village for annexation of this property on which his home also stands.

The village board, having unanimously voted to accept Little's annexation petition at the last village board meeting, has turned the petition over to the planning commission for review at its August 5 meeting.

The village board is expected to act on the planning commission's recommendations at the board meeting following the planning commission meeting, on August 16.

Little, who claims he has always wanted his property to be part of the village, said that the board's recent annexation of 134 acres belonging to R.C. Coil Co., made his property contiguous to the village and the annexation possible.

At the present time, Little said that the economy made development of the property unfeasible. No pre-annexation agreement was attached to his annexation petition because the costly running of sewer and water lines to his property is not presently necessary.

The Little property, now zoned agriculturally, will be rezoned R1.

Little, who was the chairman of the committee appointed by Mayor Ray Toft to look into the Waste Management landfill proposal, owns over 80 acres abutting the proposed landfill site.
